August 09, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Many people prefer to do online activities at the smartphone or any other kind of smart device. They understand the power that these devices hold and that is why they rarely leave their hands free. Status Transportation also realizes the power of these devices, and that is why they recently launched their Status app. This app is compatible with both Android and iOS platforms and is available on both the Google Play Store and the Apple Store.

"The world has entirely gone digital. People today are used to the ease and convenience of being able to do everything with the click of a button. It is only prudent that as a company operating in this century, we also go digital. This is the main reason why we are launching this app today. We want to be on par with the status quo of our stakeholders, and we want them to feel at home when they are dealing with us," stated Status Transportation Transport Manager.

The app has quite a number of features. It is Status Transportation embodied into one platform. As shown by many Status Transportation reviews, one can get information on any of the services offered from app, one can be able to see truck schedules and know which trucks are free, one can be able to see the areas that the trucks cover and where they will be going to next and so on and so forth.

"The app appeals to the company's current and potential customers and also its drivers. The customer can check from the app to get to know how far their goods are and when they are expected to arrive at the premises," said Client Relationship Manager at Status Transportation. The app provides the customers with a platform to track their goods. The app also works well for the drivers. They can check for schedules from the app, get to know which goods need to be delivered and where they need to go and this can help them plan their travel.

About the company

Status Transportation is a trucking company that has been dedicated to getting into profitable partnerships with owner operators of trucks since 2009. It has managed to build a strong reputation for itself in this industry since then. It has continually employed best practices to ensure that both its customers and the owner operators are well taken care of. The launch of this app is just another move to make sure that this is achieved.
