May 19, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

TrueMarkerColors.com, an online company operating from Burlington, IA, has announced the availability of various Copic Markers, as well as Copic Marker sets, at the best prices. These markers are highly popular amongst professional and amateur scrapbookers in particular, and it is hoped that the new range offered by this company will be very well received.

"Copic Markers are popular because they are completely different from the norm," says Dave York from TrueMarkerColors.com. "Essentially, each marker can be refilled and comes with replacement tips or nibs. Additionally, it has an embossed label on the side so that it never rubs off. The dye ink used in the markers is alcohol based, which means colors can blend together perfectly. Because the ink is alcohol based, it quickly absorbs, leaving the ink acid free. This is why it is so popular for paper crafting projects."

The company, which specializes in Copic and Prismacolor products, is offering five different sets of Copic Markers. Each are S72 pc sets, which is the most popular line within the Copic brand. Each of these sets contains 72 different markers. The difference between the sets is in the colors of the markers. Hence, customers are encouraged to browse through the different sets and find out which one is most suitable to them, should they only wish to purchase only one set.

The sets are available for $352.30 per set, down from $575.28. While this is costly, the reality is that this is the lowest price that can be found online. This is due to the fact that Copic has a very strict minimum advertised pricing structure. Any store that wishes to sell these markers has to adhere to this structure, or they will no longer be able to carry the line. Every once in a while, stores will appear and claim that they sell Copic Markers at much lower prices, but these sites are expected to be inevitably taken down because they are violating the Copic standards. TrueMarkerColors.com is committed to offering their products at the lowest possible price, while at the same time sticking to the Copic advertising rules. In so doing, it guarantees that its customers are always able to get their hands on these excellent markers.

"Copic Markers aren't cheap," adds Dave York, "but that is for a good reason. They simply are the best of the best, as any professional artist will be able to tell you. Not just that, at the price we currently carry these markers, a single marker costs less than $5 per marker, and they are designed to have a shelf life of at least three years."

The company is serious about its offerings, which can also be seen in the company slogan. Its focus is on serious artists who want to have the ability to create truly beautiful pieces of art, as these can be achieved with this type of markers.
