Dealer Digital Group, a digital marketing agency in Murrieta, CA, is proud to announce that they have been named the exclusive lead retailer for Total Loop, a car sales leads solutions provider. Through this automotive data mining solution, they will enable dealerships to target equity positive customers in their CRM to generate auto leads and increase their revenue, which has been found to be successful. The company believes that every niche industry is different in terms of its marketing needs, and that is why the solution is focused on the needs of car dealers.

Joel Miller from Dealer Digital Group says: "Working together with Total Loop has been a blast, and we're so glad to see that the strategies are working. Car dealers have found that the system really works in producing new sales leads, higher sales, profits, and customer loyalty. This is a tactic that has proven to be successful again and again, and it is really good to see that it is working for our various customers."

Total Loop provides an equity mining tool that enables car dealers to increase their monthly sales by 10% to 20%, hassle free. They offer a unique solution that means clients only get charged if they generate sales. This is without a month to month contract, and with a permanent money back guarantee. They achieve results through cutting edge data mining technology, pinpointing customers who are looking at trading their vehicle. These prospects are then delivered directly to the car dealers, instead of them needing to log into a system first.
