November 02, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Van Clark Agency, an insurance agency in Vancouver, WA, is proud to announce that they have opened a new office location on August 1, 2016. From this new office, they offer home, auto, rental, and commercial insurance. More details about the company and their services are available on their website at <http://vanclarkagency.com/>.

Darrel Buck from the Van Clark Agency says: "We have over a decade of experience in the industry and are committed to providing both affordable insurance coverage and superior customer service to those in the Vancouver and Clark County region. No matter what their insurance needs are, we have them covered. Opening up our new office in Vancouver has enabled us to reach more people, and we welcome everyone to walk in and say hi."

The company offers free quotations for a range of different insurance packages. These include home, auto, renters, business, and even special events insurance coverage. They pride themselves on delivering quotations very quickly so that everybody can get the needed protection as fast as possible. Quotations can be received online, by telephoning the company, or by visiting their office.

The Van Clark Agency also has a strong commitment to customer service. They want to make sure people feel that they are looked after personally at every step of the way. "All our quotations are free and no obligation," adds Darrel Buck. "If anyone has any questions about any element of the quote they receive, they can contact us straight away and we will make sure they get an answer. Similarly, if they have to make a claim, we have staff available to deal with such things as soon as possible. We don't believe in one size fits all solutions, but offer people the policies that work for their particular needs."

The company encourages everybody to come visit them in their new office in Vancouver. In so doing, they are able to build a more personal relationship with each of their clients, ensuring that their individual needs are met every step of the way. Be they individuals or businesses, insurance packages are available to ensure they are protected.
