Optimal Health and Wellness Center, based in Glen Ellyn, IL, which provides chiropractic care, now also offers treatment for diabetes. Specifically, they guide their patients in returning their bodies to health through nutrition and by implementing lifestyle changes to optimize the metabolic process, thereby further improving health. They point out that an increasing number of people in this country are developing type 2 diabetes, which is one of the chronic conditions that the wellness center treats.

Dr. Susan Kelenyi from the Optimal Health and Wellness Center says: "Type 2 diabetes in particular, is a condition that is all about proper lifestyle management. Many people can manage their diabetes without any medical or pharmaceutical products, and some people even make their condition go into complete remission. That said, when you consider most cases of type 2 diabetes are caused by following an unhealthy lifestyle, it is often easier said than done to suddenly change that. We have help available for people, however, so that they can regain control over their own health and happiness in a supportive way."

While originally a chiropractic clinic, the Optimal Health and Wellness Center quickly developed to offer far more than that. Today, their focus is on holistic wellness care, offering things such as an ideal protein program, cleanse and detoxify services, lab testing and nutrition services, thyroid solutions, and more. In so doing, they have enabled people to truly transform their lives for the better.

Their many clients have been full of praise about the services they have received. "Her approach and techniques uncover the underlying cause of problems - many times undiagnosed by traditional medical practice," says Kathy N. on the center's website. "I've been amazed at how easily and quickly she has understood what others seem to miss. If I didn't see the science and logic behind the approach she uses, I'd almost say it was magic."

By offering diabetes treatment, the center aims to ensure more people are able to achieve optimum health in a way that focuses on holistic care, rather than pharmaceutical reactionary intervention. Those who have used the treatment have been amazed at the results.
