August 18, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

East-AsianDating.com, which is a free dating website based in United Kingdom, has recently announced the celebration of their two year anniversary. Since 2014, East-AsianDating.com has helped singles find dates through their website, as well as through their mobile apps for iOS and Android.

"Our Android App is currently in the top 300 in social and free apps category in Asia," says a spokesperson for the company. "We are happy with the current result and aim to continue to provide great service to our loyal users."

The site, which can be seen at <http://www.east-asiandating.com/>, was developed when the founder noted significant differences between East and West Asian cultures. The company states that their goal was to provide a place where East Asians can come together and find others who share their same interests as well as their cultural backgrounds.

"There is a significant difference in the values and traditions between East and West," says the company spokesperson. "Our traditions, how we were raised, and even the foods that we eat are all different, and our intention is to bring together those of us that have different cultural values."

The company's website is part of the Dating Pro Network, which enables them to exchange users with other independent dating website owners. The company says that this partnership has helped them to secure their place in the online dating world for the past two years, and that they look forward to remaining part of the network for many years to come.

East-AsianDating.com allows singles from all over the world to connect and the site is specifically designed to provide a fun experience for users. The company says that their initial design was chosen in the hopes that singles would feel more comfortable and they state that their second year in business shows that they chose wisely.

Those interested in learning more about the company or the types of people that they help to connect can visit them on their official website. Social media users can also connect with the company on their official Facebook page at <https://www.facebook.com/EastAsianDating/>.
