Thomas A. Narsete, MD, in Denver, Colorado, has announced that he is offering a new procedure for plastic surgery. The plastic surgeon is now offering the Brazilian butt lift, which he says has become very popular across the globe.

"It's a safer alternative to many other procedures," says the Denver plastic surgeon. "It involves taking fat from the body and injecting it into the buttocks to create a more contoured look."

Dr. Narsete says that the procedure involves removing fat through liposuction. Fat is taken from areas of the body, such as the stomach and thighs. These are places where patients typically want a flatter and more toned look. That fat is then injected into the buttocks to give it a fuller appearance.

"It's a much safer solution to implants because it's using fat from your own body, so the risks of rejection are much lower," Dr. Narsete states.

The surgeon offers a number of procedures, which can all be seen at <http://tnplasticsurgery.com/brazilian-butt-lifts/>, and states that patients can now contact his office to schedule a consultation for the Brazilian butt lift. He states that he learned the technique during a training session with Brazilian masters. He learned minute details that enable him to ensure that each patient will get the desired look.

Many patients prefer this method of contouring because it offers the added benefit of removing fat from areas that they would like to see minimized. Dr. Narsete performs the procedure in his office and says that it offers a faster recovery time than many other alternative procedures.

Dr. Narsete has more than 20 years of experience in plastic surgery and has obtained certification from the American Board of Plastic Surgery. More about the surgeon can be seen on his Google page at <https://plus.google.com/118390410881444333605/about>.

The physician states that he can adopt a personalized approach to each patient depending on physical profile and personal needs. He states that those interested can now call to schedule an initial consultation where those needs will be discussed in detail. More about this new procedure and information about scheduling an appointment can be seen on the clinic's official website at <http://tnplasticsurgery.com/contact-us/>.
