August 29, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Bala Cynwyd, Pennsylvania based company Flip Funding has announced the launch of their new website. The company states that they have taken care and specifically designed the new site to be interactive and easy to navigate, so that visitors, particularly real estate investors looking for funding, are met with a clean, fun experience.

"We hope that real estate investors will appreciate the information and navigation that we've set up," says Rod Stanback, CEO of Flip Funding. "Our goal is to help you in your quest to acquire funding for your investments, and to provide a bit of helpful information as well."

Stanback states that their services are accessible to investors from around the nation. He says that the site was designed to help serious real estate investors to get private money without any worry of having to cut through tons of red tape. The site, which can be viewed at www.flipfunding.com, provides information to investors on things they need to know in order to gain access to fast funding for their deals. In addition, informative articles are posted that help investors to better understand the process associated with funding and investing in real estate.

"What's great about the new site is that investors can apply there. That helps to remove some of the time constraints in obtaining the capital you need for investing," says Stanback.

He states that the company also helps private providers of funds to gain knowledge and advice needed to grow financially through real estate and that the company provides knowledge of a number of products, services, and guidelines related to the industry.

The newly launched website offers insights into a number of relevant topics in addition to the online applications, which Stanback states is relatively straightforward and easy to follow. He says that anyone considering real estate as an investment opportunity should visit the site and take a look at the information offered, which can help investors to determine if this is in fact, the right place to put their money.

Those interested can visit the company on their new site, or connect with them via social media on their newly established Facebook page, which can be accessed at <https://www.facebook.com/flipfunds/>.
