August 18, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Fort Worth Plumbing Services, a business based in Fort Worth, TX, is proud to announce that they have completely redesigned their website. The site is now fully mobile friendly and makes sure that people can find out about their services in an easy way. Those who are interested are encouraged to learn more about the new website and its features online.

Deann Schulte from Fort Worth Plumbing Services says: "We're so happy with our new website. We feel that we are now closer to people who could benefit from our services. The fact that our site is also mobile optimized is perhaps the best thing yet. But we also want to tell people to watch this space, because more is coming. Now that we have improved our online visibility, we're embracing this technology in full."

The plumbing company also intends to introduce new technology to their website. At present, they are looking at two things, in particular, which are online scheduling for maintenance and SMS appointment reminders. These technologies will all be integrated into the website in order to make it easier for customers to have their plumbing needs met.

Offering local plumbing services in Fort Worth, they originally believed that they did not have to focus on an online presence. They always have had a solid customer database. However, over time they started to understand that people require not just direct services from plumbers, but also information and guidance. Furthermore, while their customer base was good and solid, there is always room for growth.

"We really want to encourage everyone to contact us through our new site," adds Deann Schulte. "Not only can we schedule in emergency repairs, standard repairs, service, and maintenance, we are also happy to simply provide people with information that they need in terms of their plumbing needs. We also provide drain cleaning, bathroom remodeling, and kitchen remodeling, so we're happy to speak to people about those issues as well."

The new website has been designed to be informative and user friendly. New features will be added regularly, so people are encouraged to bookmark the page to ensure they are kept up to date at all times.
