

New Website with Events, Activities and Things To Do On Big Island Hawaii

September 13, 2016

September 13, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

InBigIsland.com is a new website that offers information for those planning a visit the Big Island of Hawaii. The site lists numerous adventures, amenities, and activities, offering a complete resource to the Big Island of Hawaii.

Tony Misiaszek with InBigIsland.com says, "We wanted to provide a great resource, a list of everything altogether in one place to make it much easier for those who plan to visit or currently live on the Big Island of Hawaii."

Misiaszek says that his company has observed how frustrating and time consuming it can be to search multiple websites and other resources to find information on the Big Island, and wanted to provide a faster way for visitors to find what they need. Their goal is to inform and educate those living on the island and those visiting with a list of resources, all in one place, that make getting around and finding things to do on the Big Island much easier.

The site has the most comprehensive calendar of Big Island Hawaii events with dates and information on attending as well as advertisements from area businesses, many of which have served the Big Island for decades.

"It's just a great place to look if you are planning a visit," says Misiaszek. "You can find information on accommodations, restaurants, and activities if you're visiting. And even if you're local, stay updated with Big Island events and use the Adventure Hikes & Trails section to plan a weekend activity."

Misiaszek says that anyone looking for things to do on the Big Island of Hawaii should definitely visit the site, and those planning a trip to the island should check out the featured adventures and dining options before they arrive. A special "save" section offers information on coupons that can be used at local businesses, saving consumers money on services and products, and has weekly advertisements from stores.

The website, which is owned by IN FOCUS Marketing Group, also updates news about the Big Island and gives information on area sights to visit, as well as tips on moving to Hawaii, how to prepare for hurricane season, and fun facts about the state in general. Those interested in learning more about the island may want to take a look at all of the resources on the newly launched website.

###

For more information about InBigIsland.com, contact the company here:InBigIsland.com Tony Misiaszek (808) 339-3203 info@inbigisland.com PO Box 6677 Hilo, HI 96720

InBigIsland.com

Your complete resource to the Big Island of Hawai'i. InBigIsland.com was put together by the Big Island, for the Big Island. Instead of searching multiple websites, newspaper, and magazines to find information, we decided to put everything in one place

Website: <http://inbigisland.com/>

Email: info@inbigisland.com

Phone: (808) 339-3203

