

the BLOGGING BUDDHA

California Company Offers Tutorial On Starting A Blog

August 26, 2016

August 26, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

The Blogging Buddha, a company which is based in Pasadena, California, has recently stated that they are offering others the chance to tell their stories through blogging. He explained that his site provides a full tutorial on how to start, maintain, and popularize blogs including advice on various aspects associated with creating an online presence.

Mike Brown, who is known as the Blogging Buddha, states, "Creating a blog isn't difficult for anyone who has spent a lot of time online. Unfortunately, not everyone has and it can be a bit frustrating for someone new to the world of blogging to know where and how to begin."

The Blogging Buddha has launched a free beginner's guide that provides step by step instructions for creating a blog on WordPress. The guide includes information on self-hosted, pre-installed WordPress; a drag and drop builder with free themes; domain registration; and a hosting account with site administrative email. Also included are various plugins and access to the company's WordPress Academy, which offers more insights on maintaining a blog and making it successful.

"There's definitely something for everyone to learn when it comes to WordPress blogging," says Mike Brown. "I think we've covered all the angles to give you the best possible chance at launching a powerful, successful blog that will have people actively looking for you to continue reading your story."

Mike Brown says that the guide gives users everything they need to know about starting a blog and getting it up and running in under half an hour. The company's WordPress Academy offers insights into designing a blog and includes video lessons by WordPress experts. The guide walks users through the process of choosing a topic to begin their blog and goes on to outlining the difference between free and self-hosted blog platforms. It also offers advice on selecting a domain name, securing hosting, and accessing WordPress from email. Brown calls it a "one-stop shop for all new bloggers."

Those who are interested in learning more about The Blogging Buddha and the free guide to blogging that he is offering can visit the company on their official website, where the guide can be accessed.

###

For more information about The Blogging Buddha , contact the company here: The Blogging Buddha Mike Brown 757-510-4319 Mike@TheBloggingBuddha.com 2335 Kinclair Dr Pasadena, CA 91107

The Blogging Buddha

TheBloggingBuddha gives you simple step-by-step instructions on how to create a WordPress blog from beginning to end.

Website: <https://thebloggingbuddha.com/>

Email: Mike@TheBloggingBuddha.com

Phone: 757-510-4319

the BLOGGING BUDDHA

Powered by PressAdvantage.com