Townsley Portraits has recently announced the opening of its fine art landscape studio, Townsley Fine Art, which officially launched on August 1, 2016. Townsley Portraits was founded by owner and portrait artist Stuart Townsley in 2006. The Beverly Hills photography studio specializes in capturing landscapes from around the world and elegantly embodying the experience within a beautifully mastered print.

"We're proud and excited to be open and provide portrait photos," says Townsley. "And for family portraits Beverly Hills residents can also visit us."

Townsley Fine Art marked its debut into the fine art landscape scene by donating 10% of its opening night sales to the guests' charities of choice. Portrait & landscape artist Stuart Townsley has been known for his work with elite establishments such as luxury Beverly Hills hotels, prominent doctors and lawyer firms and even high-end dealerships in the LA area. He also performs partnerships with charitable organizations like Hamilton Humanities Magnet, as well as several others.

Kerri Moyer, Silent Auction Co-Chairman for Hamilton Humanities Magnet says, "I strongly recommend Townsley Portraits ... and would like to tell you about our great experience with his participation in the Hamilton Humanities Magnet Silent Auction. Stuart was a hit. He sold six packages, which was a welcome success for us this year. Since we didn't have many volunteers, it was incredibly helpful to have Stuart stay and explain his services and portrait packages to our auction participants."

Townsley Portraits is a full-service, fine art studio that specializes in timeless, hand-finished portraits that focus on the dynamics that make each family individually unique. Stuart Townsley has been professionally behind the camera since 1998, having obtained experience from several well-established studios in both the United States and Israel. Townsley says that he is proud to be considered one of the best portrait photographers Los Angeles has to offer.

Those interested can find Townsley Fine Art hanging in Ditmas Kitchen, on W. Picos Blvd in Los Angeles. Townsley says that anyone who wishes to showcase an original Townsley Fine Art landscape in their home or business may want to contact the studio to learn more. Townsley invites anyone interested to contact the studio for a complimentary pre-portrait design consultation for an artistic portrait.
