Longega Events Announces Search for Writers

May 20, 2015

May 20, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Longega Events announced today that it is looking for additional writers to contribute to the LongegaEvents.com online events magazine. Writers interested in getting their opinions about all topics related to event planning are encouraged to submit their ideas at <http://longegaevents.com/write-for-us/>.

Writing for Longega Events is a free opportunity to get published on a syndicated network, and get your material read by 1000's of interested people. There is no charge to strut your stuff on Longega Events.

Whether you're a seasoned professional or enthusiastic newcomer, US or international, the staff at Longega Events value your opinion and would love to invite you to participate in their event planning community. Writing for the Longega Events will give you a chance to apply for staff writing positions within the company as well as build your reputation as an author.

Sabrina Longega Wilson, Managing Editor, adds, "Habla espanol, Parla italiano, Parle vous Francais, we are looking for your contributions as well. We want Longega Events to be a global resource for event planners."

We are actively seeking regular contributors who would like to voice their opinions about event planning, event management, special events, corporate inventive events, and other events-related topics. If you are interested, please visit <http://longegaevents.com/write-for-us/> or email our Managing Editor at managingeditor@longegaevents.com.
