May 15, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

May 14, 2015, King City, OR -- Keeping your retirement money safe from market declines is more complicated than most people think, and too many people think they can just go it on their own. Garry F. Liday, a King City Oregon financial expert, is offering two free workshops on the 19th and 20th of May to help people learn how to not outlive their income in retirement.

Unfortunately, most people shortchange themselves and never seek out professional advice from a financial advisor. Over the course of retirement, this can cost a married couple tens of thousands of dollars in lifetime income that proper planning could have provided.

Garry F. Liday, a financial coach in Oregon is doing two free workshops to the public on how to keep retirement money safe from market declines. Garry has helped many King City area couples maximize their retirement income by using a special computer generated analysis which zeroes in on the best strategies to provide the greatest lifetime income in retirement.

?Most people get their financial information second hand and really don?t understand the many options that are available to them," says Garry. "My workshops explain clearly what their options are and how to take advantage of strategies to help you achieve your long-term retirement goals."

"One of the things I emphasize during my workshops is that timing is the most vital thing," adds Garry. "By learning how to keep their money safe in retirement, workshop attendees will learn how to maximize their retirement, as well as related information about avoiding the pitfalls of IRAs."

The workshops take place at 5:00 PM, Tuesday May 19th and Wednesday, May 20th at the The Reserve Vineyard and Golf Club, which is located in Aloha, OR. Seating is limited so it is highly recommended to register as early as possible, and pre-registration is required.

Garry Liday is also the president of Retirement Asset Managers Inc., an RIA firm.
