Vancouver, Washington based company, Tisha's Choices, has announced the launch of a product onto the marketplace that is designed to help people avoid contracting the flu. The company's UV sanitizer is said to prevent the spread of germs by as much as 99 percent when used properly.

"Everyone is susceptible to the flu," says spokesperson for the company, Jillian Gregg. "Our sanitizer will help you to beat the flu season before it gets a hold in your house."

Gregg states that the product can kill up to 99 percent of germs in just seconds, and has a companion app. MyBioDefense app is available for both iPhone and Android users and is designed to calculate the exposure times needed for the UV sanitizer to kill the germs responsible for more than 20 diseases and symptoms.

Flu season in the United States typically falls between October and May, although until 2012, the flu season often peaked in February. Other months that typically see high outbreaks of the virus include January, March, and December. Tisha's Choices aims to help consumers fight the risks of flu infection with their sanitizer product, which is now available on the Amazon marketplace.

UV light is used in a number of hospitals and other facilities as a means of effectively and safely killing germs. Sanitization by UV light is considered safer than alcohol based products. The UV sanitizer by Tisha's choices can be used to kill germs on mobile phones, doorknobs, baby and pet toys, and computer keyboards without using harmful ingredients. The company states that their UV wand is especially good for mobile uses and can be used to kill germs on shopping carts and other items that typically have a high infection risk.

"We just want to offer a product that will help consumers fight the flu by countering the spread of germs," Gregg says. "Imagine if everyone used our UV sanitizing wand. There would be no more flu to worry about."

The company states that they offer a full money back guarantee on their sanitizing product. Those interested in learning more about the UV sanitizing wand can visit the company on their official website or see the product on the Amazon marketplace.
