Health care provider, Affinity Medical Group, occupying a space in JGM Properties? Caribou Corner, offers customized pain management services for those in the Twin Cities metro area.

Affinity Medical Group?s approach to pain management is one that employs non-invasive, natural methods. They utilize physical medicine techniques proven to alleviate pain and restore a patient?s quality of life.

Their expert team will perform a thorough physical exam and/or diagnostic assessments to effectively diagnose the cause of their patients painful symptoms.

After the location of the pain is determined, their physical medicine team works with patients to create a treatment plan individual to their needs. The treatment plan may include chiropractic adjustments, physical therapy sessions, injections, and/or therapeutic massage.

An estimated 80% of people visiting their primary care provider have pain as one of their complaints. Affinity Medical Group has a team of experts to meet this need and focuses on treating pain resulting from musculoskeletal conditions.

Their unique treatment model provides patients with the highest quality of care possible. It involves two important components: utilizing the most current technology and treatment protocols, and that every patient receives direct care from Affinity?s team members, each with different specialties for treating their condition.

Affinity Medical Group?s technology and treatment protocols are designed specifically for patients with severe muscle, joint and spinal disc problems. These commonly result in neck, back, shoulder, arm, knee, or leg pain. Many patients they successfully treat had been suffering with their condition for years, even after trying several different forms of therapy. If not diagnosed and treated early enough, many of these conditions can lead to unwanted surgeries.

The reason why most neck, back, and joint pain sufferers still have their symptoms after so many years is because they either received no treatment at all, or the treatment they received was not designed to provide long-term stability and correction.

?Patients feel confident that our team of doctors will be working together on their case to identify and address the root cause of their condition. In doing so, short and long-term pain relief can be achieved and they can return to living their life,? says Dr. Kyle Hagel of Affinity Medical Group.

To find out if a patient is a candidate for Affinity Medical Group?s non-surgical procedures and treatment protocols, schedule a consultation with one of their physical medicine experts.
