Sanford, FL - The top selling vented microwave cover from TopBPAFree was recently featured in an Amazon Lightning Deals promotion. According to the company, the promotion was a resounding success as the product had record high sales for the day after being discounted by 15%.

The microwave cover is designed to fit most standard dinner plates measuring up to 10.5 inches. Since its launch on Amazon, it has quickly become one of the most sought-after microwave covers on the platform. It was featured as a lightning deal offer in response to high demand from many Amazon customers. The accompanying discount attracted many shoppers to quickly snap up the product before the deal expired.

Amazon's Lightning Deals is one of the site's top promotions. It allows shoppers to save money on popular products. Companies who enter their products in the promotion set a limited number of discounts on items for a short time during the promotion day, allowing only those shoppers who are quickest to react to benefit from the deal.

With well over 550 reviews, the microwave cover has been ranked among the most popular kitchen gadgets in its class on Amazon. It is made from high quality, BPA-free plastic and comes with a vented, steam release latch to allow food to be reheated safely and properly. Additionally, its high-dome design prevents food splatters and promotes adequate food warming and it also cleans up easily in dishwashers.

The microwave cover also has a 4.4 out of 5 star rating, suggesting that most customers who use the product are highly satisfied with its performance. It has received numerous positive reviews for its size, durability, and ability to help keep microwaves clean.

?Fits over most of my dinner plates perfectly and protects my microwave from exploding beans etc. It's not good to heat up food in plastic containers so being able to put it on a microwave safe plate or bowl and use this lid is great. Definitely on my must have kitchen gadget list,? said Kate Mahoney, a verified Amazon reviewer.

The success of the Amazon lightning deal promotion for the microwave cover from TopBPAFree, is expected to enhance its popularity among shoppers. It is currently in stock and all shoppers receive a bonus recipe book with each purchase.
