Pensacola, Fla. ? A&P Properties of NW FL, a condo rental company in Pensacola, FL, is urging the citizens and tourists in the city to check out its webcam & weather feature for future beach day planning.

The Pensacola Beach is home to warm weather, emerald green waters, and fun in the sun. When planning a beach day, avoiding terrible weather is a prime concern for most people. A&P Properties of NW FL has a webcam & weather feature that will help beach goers determine whether or not to make a sandy stop.

?Our webcam & weather feature was designed to give a good look at the weather on the beach before planning a long trip,? Owner Jeff Powell said. ?The last thing we want is for our clients to have to show up, only to turn back around immediately because of bad weather.?

The webcam & weather feature, which is found on the A&P Properties of NW FL official website, is catered to fit the needs of the Pensacola community. With two close-up views of the beach and condos, along with a pivoting camera that captures different angles of the beach, anyone browsing the site will have no issue planning their day to get away.

The webcam & weather feature also exhibits a sidebar that contains detailed information on the weather changes throughout the week for both Gulf Breeze and Pensacola. Ease of access and a streamlined user interface make the webcam & weather feature a driving factor of success for the condo rental agency in Pensacola, FL.

"We love the Pensacola beach and that's why we believe in our business so strongly," Powell said. "We take pleasure in providing our visitors with amazing experiences and we'll continue to do just that."
