

Floor Cleaning Service Goes Green

September 26, 2016

September 26, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Cleaning products are notorious for using heavy chemicals that have the potential to damage the environment as they are released into the ground and water. CCS Floor Care, a carpet cleaning company in Panama City, FL, is proud to announce, therefore, that they have now fully switched to environmentally friendly products. Having been in business for over 30 years, the family-owned business has always been committed to using the latest technology and products in the cleaning industry, hence the switch has been a logical development.

Mark Broersma from CCS Floor Care says: "When our company first launched, we made it clear that we would always use the best products and technology to service our customers. It has been known for a while now that cleaning chemicals have the potential to be environmentally damaging, and we have been replacing all our products with high quality green products. We're very proud of the fact that, now, all our products are completely safe for the environment."

The company is known for their extensive services. Besides carpet cleaning, for instance, they also specialize in hardwood floor cleaning services throughout Panama City. They use a high speed rotary brush to clean hardwoods, using a proprietary cleaning solution, which is now also completely green. By removing harsh and dangerous chemicals, they not only protect the planet but also ensure that the wood of the floor is protected and its beauty lasts longer.

Having been in business for so long, the company has received a wealth of positive reviews. "Tony Byrd has cleaned both the upholstery and carpet in our home two different times now," says Joy B. on the company's Facebook page. "He is kind, professional, and always goes the extra mile. Even when our crazy neighbor called the police on him for parking too close to her driveway he remained professional and calm even when we were not. We have used other carpet cleaning businesses before and there is no comparison between competitors and Carpet Care Specialists."

Besides carpet and hardwood floor cleaning, CCS also offers upholstery cleaning in Panama City, as well as various other specialized services. They encourage everyone to contact them as soon as possible.
