Camping Equipment USA in Columbus, Ohio, has released a new guide to help campers more thoroughly enjoy their time outdoors. The company, which provides backcountry gear, recently released a backpacking checklist designed to help outdoorsmen ensure that they are fully ready for their next outdoor adventure.

Michael Sullivan with Camping Equipment USA says, "We want to provide not only quality products for your backpacking adventures, but also quality information that can help you to ensure you are making the most out of every trip."

Sullivan says that those who are looking for more information can visit the company online to learn more about the variety of products that they provide. Along with various tents, backpacks, and other products, they have a 5-day backpacking checklist and a 2-day hike checklist that outdoor adventurers can access to ensure that they have everything they need while on their quests.

"We've also added new tents and shelters to our product lineup," says Sullivan. "We're sure to have absolutely everything you need to make your next adventure one to remember."

Sullivan says that because it's important to have a lightweight tent that is easy to carry and set up, they have added a number of such tents to their product list. He says that double walled tents are popular among hikers because they are relatively inexpensive but still offer protection from the elements, which is why they have chosen the variety of tents that they are now offering. He says that tents are one of the main things on the checklist and that backpackers who are planning a trip for more than the day should ensure that they have a quality, durable tent that can protect them while still being light enough to carry without being a burden.

Camping Equipment USA provides a wide range of camping and backpacking products, as well as various informative articles and posts to help outdoor enthusiasts to be more prepared for their adventures.
