Dr. Claire Serrato has earned accreditation as a Surgeon of Excellence in Minimally Invasive Surgery (SOEMIS) as awarded from the Surgical Review Corporation (SRC), an independent, nonprofit organization dedicated to advancing the safety, efficacy and efficiency of surgical care worldwide. The surgical review program recognizes surgeons who demonstrate an unparalleled commitment and ability to consistently deliver safe, effective, evidence-based care.

"Earning the Surgeon of Excellence accreditation signifies my ability to consistently deliver the safest, highest-quality care to minimally invasive surgery patients," said Claire Serrato, MD, a Burlingame, California, gynecologist. In gynecology, minimally invasive surgery includes laparoscopic surgery with the traditional straight-stick or more modern robotic-assisted technology.

With minimally invasive surgery, patients experience less blood loss, less pain, and a quicker return to normal daily activities.

The SOEMIS program's objective requirements and evaluation processes were developed in collaboration with leading minimally invasive surgeons. To achieve this designation, a surgeon must pass an independent review at SRC after providing certain qualifications. A commitment to long-term patient care and success necessitates that the requirements be comprehensive, research-based and verified through a rigorous inspection. More about Dr Serrato, ObGyn, can be found on her website.

Dr. Serrato has also been accredited as a Surgeon of Excellence in Robotic Surgery.
