Petherick Cottrell Legal has announced that they have move to a new location. The law firm recently made a move to new premises in Mandurah, Western Australia. The firm provides lawyers for a number of business and individual needs. Trent Petherick, a director of the firm, says, "We feel that our new location is much more convenient for our clients, and it gives us a much better opportunity to serve them."

Petherick says that more information regarding the new location can be found on the Petherick Cottrell Facebook page. Those interested can connect with the firm on Facebook to learn more about the services that they offer in the area as well.

The Mandurah based legal firm focuses on developing long term relationships with clients and serves a number of legal needs including commercial and civil litigation, employment law, family law, property and business law, wills and estate planning, and criminal law. Petherick states that their goal is to offer professional service at a competitive price.

"We aim to assist our clients with all aspects of their legal needs. Relocating to this new premises is just one step in ensuring that our clients receive only the best legal representation, no matter what their legal needs are," Petherick states.

The firm has a number of client testimonials on its website for potential clients who would like to hear what others have to say about the services provided. Petherick states that they remain focused on their clients at all times and even offer after hours consultations to make them more accessible and convenient. More on the kinds of services offered can be seen on the firm's Google profile.

Petherick Cottrell has been serving clients in the Mandurah region for a number of years and has gained a reputation for professionalism and strong advocacy skills. Clients are able to benefit from the lawyer's years of experience as well as professional knowledge on a number of legal issues. The firm states that those interested in learning more about their realm of services or those who would like directions to their new firm location can visit them on their official website at petherickcottrell.com.au.
