May 29, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Coded Sky Design, a company offering SEO Santa Fe services, has announced the redesign of its website to showcase its new selection of WordPress themes and demonstrate the importance of having SEO as a top priority. Owner, Tom Condit says that while many businesses jump right into web design and layout, they tend to neglect SEO site structure and content optimization. These factors are extremely important when building a website. The site redesign focused on making sure that clients find what they need to help move their business up in the ranks.

Condit explains that when business owners don't take SEO marketing seriously, they will eventually have to go back and do more work than if they had made SEO a top priority in the first place. When businesses value SEO strategies from the very beginning, they can build in these essentials from the very start. The company offers web development Santa Fe services along with web design and combines them with a variety of practical tools that are currently on the market today.

He says that visitors to the site will be able to find all sorts of tools that will be useful for improving their site rankings. Whether they are searching for an SEO friendly theme for WordPress, or they need to build their entire site from the ground up, visitors are sure to find what they need.

Working with this type of WordPress design Santa Fe company, it will help site owners know what features are useful and working in their favor. It will also help to figure out what features are not required and can be removed.

The redesigned site also features resources for Premium WordPress Themes that are SEO ready for immediate use. Whatever theme is chosen can be set up with rapid load times so that it won't get in the way of the customer experience. A site that has optimized content could suffer in the rankings due to slower page load times. Having a host of premium themes that have already considered this can prove to be a valuable asset to a new site.

Condit also talks about the company's ability to customize for any WordPress Theme a customer may want. If the predesigned themes do not fit a company's online image, the WordPress design Santa Fe company has a team of website designers and developers who can create the desired design at an affordable price.

Anyone who may be interested in learning more about the new features available at the SEO Santa Fe company, they can contact them directly for a personal consultation with Mr. Condit. Together, they will discuss their exact specifications and needs, and will be able to make recommendations or even completely design a new site from the ground up. Learning how to incorporate search engine parameters in the web design process can help in moving a site up in the ranks from the very beginning.
