Mobile Auto Electrician Launches Services In Welshpool

October 18, 2016

October 18, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Allplant Auto Electrics, which is based in Welshpool, Western Australia, has recently announced that it is providing mobile auto electrical services to customers in and around the Welshpool area. Phil Bowen, a spokesperson for the company, says, "We operate a fleet of purpose built service vehicles that are standing by and ready to provide you with the auto electrical and air conditioning repairs and maintenance you need at your home, office, and construction or transport sites."

Bowen also says that the company has a fully equipped workshop at their Allplant Auto Electrics business address that can accommodate a number of vehicles for auto electrical repairs and installations. The company states that their onsite workshop gives them the ability to design and build control systems for plant applications and provide air conditioning services for vehicles including mining vehicles and heavy equipment.

"We are service agents for Rencool & Sigma," says Bowen. "We can design, manufacture, and install all types of air conditioning systems to exacting standards."

Bowen states that while their workshop is conveniently located in Welshpool, the company fully understands that some customers cannot reach them. For these customers, they can bring the repairs and installations to them no matter where they may be in the surrounding areas. He says that the company services trucks, mobile plant and earth moving vehicles, and water carts as well as truck wiring systems and control systems.

In addition to their wide range of mobile services, the company also offers Nordic lighting installations and repairs and can design and manufacture braided wiring harnesses to withstand extreme temperatures. Bowen states that this new mobile service is designed to make repairs a bit more convenient for their area customers, particularly those who cannot bring their vehicles in to the company for repairs and servicing. He says that the company is fully equipped to provide skilled labor for short periods of time or extended repairs, and have solutions to fit most customer needs.

More about the company, including specific details regarding their new mobile repair and service can be found on their official website at allplantautoelectrics.com.au.
