October 20, 2016 -
Chedall LLC, which is based in Wilmington, Delaware, has recently announced the release of the 8th edition of their Campfire Travel E Magazine. The Campfire Travel community offers registered members the opportunity to enter competitions, win prizes, share photos and videos, play games, and generally chat and get to know one another.

"It's a wonderful community of like-minded people," says David Hall, a spokesperson for the company. "We even vote for content that we feature in our magazine, and members have the opportunity to have their voices heard."

Hall says that members also connect via the company's social media sites, which include Twitter and Facebook. The magazine is available for viewing on any device through the community website. The company is also planning to launch an e-magazine app that allows members to instantly download the newest magazine editions to read on their phones or tablets. Hall states that this newest edition is filled with valuable information and fun facts for campers of all levels.

"Whether you're new to camping or you've been doing it for decades, there is certainly something in this magazine that is going to pique your interest," Hall states. He says that those interested in Campfire Travel can also connect via their Google+ page.

Chedall offers their magazine as well as various other points of interest to campers. The magazine focuses on four or five states around the nation in each magazine edition, giving campers an idea of where they can go for certain activities or sights. Hall states that there are also vacations and prizes to be won and photo competitions as well as trivia and other games for camping enthusiasts.

Members of the site, in addition to having access to the regularly published magazines, can also use the resort finder to locate their perfect camping destination, and the company offers a new members section that incorporates all their social media pages into one place for convenient access so members can connect with the company and other members.

Those interested in joining the community or reading the newest camping magazine edition can sign up on the company's official community website where additional information about membership can be found.
