

Cardea Luxe Skin Care Releases New Radiance Eye Cream

October 20, 2016

October 20, 2016 -

Cardea Luxe Skin Care from Reno, Nevada, has recently released a new product for their skin care lineup. The company's new eye cream is now available for purchase on the company's official website, and the company states that it offers a number of benefits for men and women of all ages.

Joseph Meli, a spokesperson for the company, says, "We've developed what we believe is a revolutionary product that will help to fight signs of aging."

Meli explains that the new Radiance Eye Cream combines peptides like Matrixyl 3000 along with botanicals, pure plant oils, and a number of organic vitamins and minerals to create a product that has been found to help reverse the signs of skin aging. The eye cream also contains ocean based Retinol, which has been proven to help brighten eyes and make them appear more radiant.

"The overall benefit of this new product is, of course, younger looking skin," says Meli. "But we also wanted to develop a product that women would want to use, something that would instantly give them results and make them feel more beautiful and youthful."

Meli points out that the product works from the cellular level, boosting the capability of collagen to repair and reverse wrinkles. He says that one of the most important features of the product is its ability to diminish inflammation or puffiness around the eyes, which instantly helps the skin look younger and more radiant. He says that in addition to the benefits around the eyes, the product can also be smoothed over the face and neck areas for added benefits in fighting the signs of skin aging.

The company recommends dabbing the cream around the eyes, cheeks, and forehead for the best results and to gain day and nighttime skin care protection. The company adds that the eye cream can be worked under makeup.

Meli says that results are instantaneous as dark circles and puffiness around the eyes are diminished instantly, and the company offers a complete money back guarantee on this and their other skin care products. Those interested in learning more about the newest product in the Cardea Luxe Skin Care lineup can visit the company on their website.
