AdvantaVita Announces Halloween Promotion For Moringa Oleifera

October 26, 2016

October 26, 2016 -
AdvantaVita, a Deerfield Beach, Florida company that provides health supplements and products to customers around the nation, has recently announced a Halloween promotion for its popular Moringa Oleifera. The promotion entitles customers to 15 percent off the product.

AdvantaVita's Moringa Oleifera can be purchased through the Amazon marketplace, where the discount will be applied. Those interested can see the product at http://advantavita.com/moringa-oleifera/, and see a list of the benefits of taking it as well as reviews from other customers.

Chris Johnson with AdvantaVita says, "What better time to start getting healthy for the holidays than Halloween? Our product contains a number of antioxidants and other beneficial ingredients that will help you to get much healthier between Halloween and Christmas. By the time the New Year rolls around, you'll feel like a completely new person."

Johnson states that Moringa Oleifera is nutritious and helps to lower blood sugar, which is something that many people need during the time between Halloween and Christmas given all the candies and sweets that are usually consumed. He says the supplement can also help to regulate cholesterol, which is something else that people tend to see increase during the holidays when baked foods are readily consumed.

"People just do not eat right between October and January," Johnson says. "This is why we've decided to offer the promotion for Halloween. We hope that customers will order and begin taking the supplement to help regulate their bodies during the holiday season, when they are going to consume more fats and sugars than they typically would."

Johnson states that interested consumers can connect with the company on their official Facebook page at https://www.facebook.com/AdvantaVita/, where new information about upcoming events and sales will also be posted. He states that those who like the Facebook page can also interact with others who have taken or are currently taking the product and find out how beneficial it has been for others regarding general wellness.

Those interested can visit the company online on their official Amazon seller's page at https://www.amazon.com/dp/B018SNXXNG/. More information about their products can also be found on their website.
