McKenzie & Willis offers a no-charge consultation service for customers who want help with picking home furnishings and fixtures. The consultant has the knowledge and experience to suggest items to fit the preferences and lifestyle of the customer.

Christchurch NZ: McKenzie & Willis is pleased to announce that its services include a free in-home consultation with experienced professionals who assist customers to choose furnishing and designs that are appropriate for lifestyle, preferences, and budget of the customer. The retail shopping experience at McW is designed to provide a wide selection of furniture and other items required to enhance the appearance and functionality of the customer's home.

The online catalogue currently lists more than four hundred items, encompassing categories ranging from chairs, lights, benches and leaners to day beds and tables. The website is user-friendly, allowing the customer to filter by price, brand and date of entry for the item. Items are constantly being added, without neglecting the more classic styles which never become dated. Customers can also filter items by price.

Furnishings for the home are available in several categories, including bedroom pieces, outdoor items, and lounge pieces. The McW store and catalogue also offer dining room pieces, including tables and dining chairs.

A sub-category within the furniture options is outdoor furniture. As with other selections of home furnishings, there are quality brands and designs from locations globally. The pieces are stylish and are durable enough to withstand outdoor temperatures and weather conditions. One example is the Portico range. The pieces stand up to the sometimes harsh New Zealand summer conditions and temperatures and do so in a way that is both attractive and functional.

Sheets are another category of items which are available online and in the retail store. The quality brand names include Sheridan, Bianca Lorene, and MM Linen. The bed linens and extras feature high thread counts, hand-stitching, and other characteristics that offer signals that the items are of the highest quality. Pillow shams and pillow cases, as well as bed-skirts, are available in a range of designs and materials.
