McKenzie & Willis offers the expertise of professionals to conceptualise, measure and plan for floor coverings in new homes as well as remodeling projects. The home-owner in need of expert advice can schedule a consultation.

Christchurch NZ: McKenzie & Willis is pleased to announce that they offer free home consultations for customers who are considering re-doing their home's decor or functionality. Flooring is a major investment and the advice of an expert is welcomed by many home-owners. Scheduling an in-home consultation can be done on the website or by contacting one of the teams by telephone. The consultants can visit the home, or the discussion can be arranged for the retail showroom.

McW has a wide selection of floor coverings from which to choose, whether the project is a new home or remodeling and renovation of existing structures. Wood floors, laminates, and vinyl planks are some of the hard surface products which are available. Carpeting may be preferred by other customers. Wool carpets, as well as nylon products, are included in the inventory of floor coverings. The top manufacturers are selected to feature in the stores, as well as in the on-line catalogues.

While blankets & throws typically do not represent as large an investment as floor coverings, they can be very important in the design and overall appearance of the house. These items also are important for the comfort of the inhabitants. On a cold night, a warm duck down blanket can maintain comfort in a stylish way. A coverlet from Bianca Lorene is both decorative and warm, and can serve as a bedspread, or as a throw for chilly evenings.

A finishing touch which can help to ensure good sleeping positions and comfort is the use of pillows. The brands of Fairydown and MM Down are known for their high quality attention to detail in the construction. The MM Down products come in a range of comfort levels from Premium to All Around. The pillows are sanitized to make them suitable for those who struggle with allergies.
