

D2G Offers Free Display Ads For Limited Time

October 28, 2016

October 28, 2016 -
Digital2grow, a company based in Silver Spring, Maryland, has recently announced the opening of a new division within the company. This particular division will be focusing on digital ads, which the company says are much more effective than traditional ads. Moreover, these digital ads will be available for free for a limited time.

The company says that the phenomenon of digital disruption is taking an increasingly heavy toll on print media ads. Newspaper and magazine ads are a declining business model as digital technologies become more of the mainstream than ever before.

Business owners who relied heavily on print media may suffer from a twin malady of decreasing views of their message and unaffordable digital ads that are effective. Digital2grow is introducing a new service that will eliminate both problems.

"D2g is offering a free ad for a limited time during its beta program phase," says Chris Daley with the company. "One of the unspoken facts of marketing is that your marketing message has to be seen seven times before your prospect take action, It is called the rule of seven." He explains that the business prospects have to see branding consistently a number of times (7) before they take action, on the average.

"Out of sight translates to out of mind," Daley points out. "The genius of this program is that it has done extensive research as to ads that have proven to be highly converting ads."

Daley explains that during the beta offer phase, Digital2grow is offering a free branding or an offer ad. The ad can be a branding ad, service ad, offer, or product ad. The company states that only a fortunate few will get the taste of a high converting digital ad that will allow them to improve their messaging capabilities for the critical upcoming holiday season. Daley urges those who are interested in becoming part of the lucky few to contact the company quickly as those spots are expected to fill up fast.

Those who are interested in learning more about the beta offer that Digital2grow is implementing or businesses who would like to reach out to the company for any of their other services can contact them through their official website.
