

The Little Bamboo Announces Bonus Laundry Bag For Mens No Show Socks

November 21, 2016 -
Sanford, Florida based company, The Little Bamboo, offers a variety of consumer goods and products via the Amazon marketplace. The company has now announced a new bonus to their popular no show socks for men. In addition to the socks, the company is now providing a bonus laundry bag so that the socks will not get lost in the wash.

"It's a terrible thing to put two socks in the wash and then only be able to take one out," says Sharon Allen, a spokesperson for The Little Bamboo. "The new laundry bag that we're including in the purchase will now help our customers to avoid that frustration."

Allen states that their mens no show socks have been very popular since they were first launched on the Amazon marketplace some time ago. She says that because their customers have been so loyal, the company wanted to do something special for them.

"We thought that the laundry bag was an excellent idea," Allen states. "Not only will this help our customers better keep track of their socks, but the set also makes a wonderful gift idea."

The socks fit men's shoe sizes up to a 10 and are super low cut with low profiles so they are completely no show. They are manufactured from bamboo fibers that make them repel odor and create a silky smooth, antibacterial replacement for cotton socks.

In addition, they are slip resistant due to their non-slip silicone grips around the heels, so they stay in place during movement, and can be worn with any type of shoe.

The laundry bag holds several pairs of the socks and can be thrown directly into the washer and then into the dryer, keeping all the socks in the same place so that they are easier to find once the laundry is done, according to the company.
