November 01, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

The Georgia pool management company has been providing services professionally since 1979. The company serves the entire Greater Atlanta area and has expanded nationwide.

Roswell GA: United Pools and its management team are pleased to announce that they have been providing full pool management services to commercial pools since the launch of their business in 1979. The company was responsible for the creation of the management industry in Metro Atlanta and during the past twenty years has expanded across the United States. The firm is a leader in American Red Cross trained aquatic lifeguards. The company also is a principal in the National Pool and Spa Foundations Certified Pool Operators.

According to Sean Legg, "We are committed to offering the most comprehensive management program in the industry. Our services are constantly being upgraded to include modern technology, communication equipment, and management tools. Our entire team receives the most complete training and continuing education available in order to provide customers with the ultimate swimming experience."

The professional team at the firm is knowledgeable and capable of managing any size facility. There is top tier management structure and ongoing training in all aspects of the industry which sets the team apart from competitors. There is a great deal of emphasis placed on safety and ensuring each of the customers of the facility enjoys the experience. The team has the best safety record in the industry. The risk management team helps to further enhance safety precautions.

Every aspect of the management is handled with equal care and competence. The professionals work with seasonal swim facilities and year-round aquatic centers. The management team handles everything from opening the pool in the spring to the delivery of chemicals, management of all personnel, and inspections by local governmental agencies. The professionals complete necessary payroll, taxes and insurance reporting, payments, safety audits, and gate entries.

The experience of the technicians is ranked as one of the highest in the industry. With more than a century of combined aquatics experience, the customer can be assured that the right technicians will be available for any job. The management team is also available to provide revenue development suggestions.
