

Spacers To Correct Toes Hit Milestone On Amazon

November 14, 2016

November 14, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

DenadaDance in Minden, Nevada, recently announced that their toe spacers have hit a milestone on the Amazon marketplace. The spacers, designed to correct toes, now have more than 100 positive reviews, and the company states that more reviews are coming in every day and have been consistent since the product was first launched.

"We've hit just over 125 reviews, most of them five star," says Elena Vera with DenadaDance. "Every day it seems we receive another testimonial from someone who has had a positive experience with our product."

The reviews on Amazon state that consumers have been able to correct toes with DenadaDance toe spacers. The spacers are specifically designed to separate the big toe from the second toe, which helps to realign the toes and help relieve the pain from bunions, overlapping toes, toe drifts, and hallus valgus.

"We designed them to be comfortable and to offer the best possible defense against a number of painful toe issues," says Vera. "Given the number of positive reviews that we've received, we believe that we've done our jobs."

The DenadaDance toe spacers set is only available through the company and includes a set of four gel toe spacers, two large and two medium, to separate toes. The company states that the gel makes the spacers very soft and comfortable, and that they are designed to last for several uses. DenadaDance provides a full satisfaction guarantee for their product, a fact that the company states helps customers to feel better about trying them. Vera says that once the customer tries them, they are hooked. She states that the company receives at least one new review every day from customers who claim the toe spacers have helped to significantly reduce pain from bunions and other issues. Interested consumers can read through the more than 100 positive reviews on the toe spacers page on the Amazon marketplace.

DenadaDance provides a wide assortment of consumer products for toes and feet. Those interested can learn more on the company's official website or visit their Amazon seller's page for a complete listing of the products that they offer.
