November 14, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Having a hammer toe is a common but uncomfortable problem. DenadaDance, a footcare company in Minden, NV, has recently launched their hammer toe corrector, designed to gently and softly spread the toes. They are proud to announce that the corrector has now received in excess of 100 positive reviews.

Elena Vera from DenadaDance says: "We're so happy to see that people have been finding benefits from using our hammer toe corrector. We want to make sure that people would be able to take care of their feet as much as they possibly can, so that they can be fully comfortable as well. To see that our toe spacer set has improved the lives of so many people is more than we could have asked for."

The DenadaDance toe spacers set of 4 comes with two different sized spacers, so they can be used on different toes, regardless of people's toe sizes. Besides being used for hammer toes, they can also help to relieve the pain of bunions, hallus valgus, overlapping toes and toe drift. As such, they address the common toe problems that people can suffer from.

Research has shown that the foot is the least looked after part of the human body. It seems that people forget that their feet have to carry them all day, everyday, while being covered in footwear that are often uncomfortable just to meet fashion's ideals. Elena Vera adds: "We really take our feet for granted. Did you know, for instance, that when people are in the shower, they often forget to properly wash their feet? Or, if they are in the bath, they put their feet on the side of the bath rather than in the water? That's not to say that the feet are dirty, but rather that they are not allowed to have the relaxation they need as much as any other part of our bodies."

The hammer toe spacer/corrector is currently available exclusively on Amazon, where it has received 128 reviews, ranking it as a 4.5 star best selling item. For further information on the toe spacer on on how best to use it, people are encouraged to contact DenadaDance.
