Bunions are painful foot afflictions that are particularly common in women who wear high heeled shoes with pointy toes, which is one of today's fashion standards. Fortunately, Minden, NV foot care company DenadaDance has announced that their DenadaDance bunion relief toe spacers have been shown to provide tremendous benefits to their customers.

"Our product was released a short time ago and since then, it has been gathering a lot of interest," says manager of DenadaDance, Elena Vera. "Now, several months later, we have received in excess of 100 positive reviews, with people from all walks of life telling us how much they have benefited from the product."

The bunion relief set comes with four individual pieces, made up of two large and two medium sizes. This means that they can fit any foot, either left or right, to provide pain relief. Made from a soft and comfortable material, they can be worn around the clock. Lady J on Amazon says, "They are so comfortable to wear even with shoes on. The rubber is incredibly soft and even soothing to the touch." Daniele Hinds says, "I wear mine daily and have noticed a significant decrease in pain." The material is also highly durable, and DenadaDance has included a lifetime guarantee should there ever be a problem.

"What we want to do is make sure people gain a greater understanding of the importance of proper foot care," adds Elena Vera. "We will be the last to say that a woman shouldn't wear beautiful shoes as I wear them myself actually. However, we want to make sure people look after their feet. After all, they have to carry us wherever we go, and that means pampering them every once in a while as well."

What DenadaDance aimed to achieve was create a product that would provide rapid relief, thereby enabling people to regain or retain their mobility and overall quality of life. This has been proven by the large number of positive reviews of the product.
