The exclusive one day event called Home Business Intensive will provide intensive training, and Higdon states that it is a must for network marketers. He says that they plan to cover several important topics.

"We're going to cover so much critical information," Higdon states. "We'll give you warm market recruiting strategies that are sure to boost your closing ratio, and cold marketing scripts to help you effectively approach people you don't know and help them get started as customers or reps."

He says that his super team nurturing formula for creating a winning team attitude will also be covered, in addition to various other topics of interest for marketers.
