November 22, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Nida Marouf DDS is a Chicago area dentist who offers a range of general and cosmetic dentistry services. The Dental Office of Dr. Marouf has announced that they are offering free consultations to patients in Chicago, Illinois, as a means of fulfilling all of their dental needs.

"We're proud to provide our patients with everything they need to ensure that they enjoy healthy teeth and gums," says Dr. Marouf. "Our free consultations allow patients to learn about the treatments necessary to solve their dental issues, and give them an idea of the overall cost and length of the treatment."

Dr. Marouf states that her office is a member of the American Dental Association as well as the Illinois State Dental Society and the Chicago Dental Society. The office provides the free consultations to help patients learn about the treatments they will need and to allow them to help determine their treatment types and length.

"It's all about protecting the oral health of our patients," says Dr. Marouf. "We want everyone who leaves our office to smile, and we want to be the reason behind that smile." Those interested in learning more or in scheduling a free dental consultation can click here.

Dr. Marouf's office provides general dentistry procedures such as fillings, cleanings, and tooth extractions, as well as more advanced procedures like dentures and cosmetic dentistry. She states that patients with misaligned, missing, or otherwise imperfect teeth can schedule an appointment to learn more about the cosmetic procedures that are available and to discuss which particular procedure may be best for each individual patient. The dentist states that not all patients are going to benefit from the same procedures, which is why a consultation is recommended so that the patient can gain more information and the dental team can learn more about what the patient needs.

Dr. Marouf urges patients, particularly those who do not have a regular dentist, to contact the office to schedule a consultation today and begin enjoying better oral health. Those interested can learn more on the
