

Titan Remodeling Announces Special Offer On Their Highly Acclaimed Louvered Patio Covers

May 29, 2015

May 29, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Titan Remodeling, a home remodeling company based in Castroville, Texas, has just announced a 10% off special on their louvered patio covers and more to celebrate their 10 year in business. Customers are encouraged to schedule a free, no obligation in home consultation to receive a complete estimate. This estimate will include the 10% discount.

"We are so pleased to have been operating for ten years now", says Preston Leake from Titan Remodeling. "For a large part, this success is down to our fantastic customers. To say thank you, and to attract more new customers, we will now be offering all our louvered patio covers, pergolas and sunrooms with a 10% discount."

Titan Remodeling prides itself greatly on their high degrees of professionalism. All work is done in house from start to finish and only the most highly skilled and professional craftsmen are employed by them. This guarantees their quality and ensures not just a professional but also personal service. The company has built up a reputation as being one of the best providers of patio covers San Antonio has to offer.

"I found Titan Remodeling very professional to work with", says one happy customer. "Things I thought contractors would cover up, such as rotted wood on the roof, Titan removed and replaced at no extra cost. I would strongly recommend them to others within the local area, and next time I have an remodeling to do, I will call them."

Titan Remodeling focuses on a number of different services, including windows, sunrooms, louvered roof patios, patio covers and pergolas, and floors. Every job is completed to absolute perfection and very high standards. The company also prides itself on offering a highly personalized service. Rather than offering one size fits all solutions, they speak to their customers about their personal wishes and come up with bespoke, custom made creations instead.

They offer a wide variety of patio covers. One of the most popular is the traditional style louvered roof system, but they also offer the pergola style louvered roof system. They also have different options in terms of their posts, so that people can design the louvered roof system they like the most. This is all part of the personalized design service that the company offers to their customers. The same is true for all their services.

Furthermore, the remodeling company offers 100% financing to their customers. This means it is possible to enjoy high quality remodeling work without having to break the bank. Indeed, they are able to offer this type of finance to people with decent, not fully perfect, credit.

Titan Remodeling encourages all customers to contact them for a free in home consultation. This can be done through their website, where a handy "schedule a consultation" button is available. Additionally, customers can telephone 210-774-6442 to book it. The consultant is completely free and no obligation and allows customers to receive a full price for the work that they wish to have done, at which point their discount will also be applied.
