(Miami, FL) ? Social Content Services have been announced by CMS Social for businesses looking to gain a head start on internet marketing, build better brand recognition, and a number of other benefits supported by the company and their endeavors in the social media marketing industry. The company believes that the concept of social media marketing has long since proven its worth by the sheer volume of visitors to Facebook, Twitter, and other platforms daily. They say that if businesses take advantage of the interest that consumers show in these platforms, they can better understand client needs and increase revenue.

CMS Social offers a number of options for businesses in need of social media content services, including their most popular and basic package, which begins at $129 per month. This social content pricing is suggested to be highly affordable when compared with competitor prices or the cost involved in a new hire for companies to keep a content manager on staff. There are higher priced packages, including more incentives, to be found on the website as well. They have said the following regarding some reasons businesses should invest in their services:

"Our social media experts take all the pains out of consistently creating and posting quality content to your company's social media pages, freeing up your time to focus on your business. We do all this at a very affordable monthly price, much cheaper than hiring someone in-house too!"

CMS Social encourages those interested in learning more about content management and the special features involved in this service to contact them through their website, at <http://www.cmssocial.com/contact-us/>. The company contact page provides a number of options for communication including e-mail, telephone, and an easy to complete online form.

The options for monthly packages means that trying the service and stopping the service is easy for businesses who aren't sure whether or not this is the right management method for their social media accounts. The company also works with a number of industries, providing their services to those in the retail world, legal field, and various businesses across the country. They utilize content and images from specific areas, customized to the company they are representing, and have said:

"The company also works with a number of industries, providing their services to those in the retail world, legal field, and various businesses across the country."

Content management packages cover consistent up to date posting on platforms such as Twitter, Facebook, Pinterest, Google+, and LinkedIn. Customer service is also included, and larger more inclusive packages also provide options for full social media management on Twitter or Facebook accounts. The full management selections give businesses the option to include communication with consumers, answers to comments, likes, shares, tweets, and other messaging formats. They report back to businesses on subjects that rate higher for managerial responses, and cover the majority of social media work themselves. This ties in with the CMS Social attitude on helping businesses focus more on their daily work and less on internet accounts like Pinterest and LinkedIn, which can take time and energy better suited to other endeavors.
