Immortalitea Sees Record Breaking Sales Growth

The Immortalitea Company, a tea business in Grandville, MI, with a website at http://immortalitea.com, is no different from other companies that generally find the last two months of the year hectic. These months are often a make or break period, particularly for companies who have not yet met the revenues they had projected for the year. This is especially true if their fiscal year coincides with the calendar year. Fortunately for Immortalitea, they have seen record holiday sales ahead with November revenues. In fact, their sales are the highest in the company's history. The company, which is a provider of artisan crafted herbs and teas, has just reported that their year on year revenues for November have been up by 50%.

Ralph Kenney from The Immortalitea Company says: "Our latest sales figures are out of this world. We knew things were going well, but we couldn't have anticipated that sales would be this good. We're so happy to see that people are enjoying our products, not in the least because their purchases allow us to make a real difference in the world."

The tea that the company offers is made from handcrafted wellness herbs. These teas are all 100% organic and free from chemicals. The company ensures that the farmers that they work with all receive a fair price, and are enabled to connect with other professionals in the tea industry, thereby further increasing their business. Finally, the customers receive high quality teas at an affordable price, with the peace of mind of knowing they have been sourced in a sustainable manner and that they help local, small tea growers at the same time.

Those who have purchased the tea have been very pleased with it. "Ralph is a good guy," says JP S. on the company's Facebook page at https://www.facebook.com/Immortalitea/. "Great products and service. I serve Jiaogulan tea in my reception room at my private practice in Murrells Inlet, SC. It is the main beverage we offer our patient/clients."
