

FanMaid Invents And Launches New Ceiling Fan Duster

December 05, 2016

December 05, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

FanMaid Company, a business in Columbia, TN, is proud to announce that they have invented, developed, and launched a unique, patented, made in the USA product designed for cleaning ceiling fan blades. Cleaning these blades is a dreaded chore for many, particularly because doing so rakes dust and gunk onto bedding and furniture. Thanks to the new patented ceiling fan duster from FanMaid this is no longer an issue.

Derrick Muncy from FanMaid Company says: "We are so excited about the development of this product. When we sought to invent it, we weren't sure that it could actually be done. Could it really be that simple to safely and effectively clean a ceiling fan? We're so happy that everything came together and that we can help so many people clean their fan blades properly."

The new FanMaid duster is currently exclusively available on Amazon. While having been released just a short while ago, it is already gathering a lot of attention, as well as many positive reviews. Customers hail its ease of use and effectiveness, as well as the fact that it is so safe to use. "I cleaned all the fans in my house in 10 minutes without having to get out the ladder and make a mess...", says an Amazon customer.

The patented duster comes with disposable rollers and pad. It also accepts the threaded end of all standard American style threaded broom handles. The broom handle is not included, however. What makes this product so unique is that it comes with dual rollers for cleaning both sides of the fan blade and that it has a tensioning hinge.

As part of the launch of the new product, FanMaid is also engaging in an active social media campaign. In doing so, they have updated their own website, as well as started a Facebook page. People are encouraged to like the page and share their experiences about the product with the company. Alternatively, they can get contact details through their new website, where further details about the product, its development, and its launch can be accessed. FanMaid is happy to answer any questions.

###

For more information about FanMaid Company, contact the company here: FanMaid Company Derrick Muncy (931) 212-0254 sales@fanmaid.com 2225 Tindell Lane Columbia, TN 38401

FanMaid Company

MindBurst Inc. was founded in 2010 when entrepreneur, Derrick Muncy, created the FanMaid Duster. Made in the USA and available on Amazon, FanMaid is unique in that it collects dust on specially designed rollers, protecting furniture and bedding.

Website: <http://fanmaid.com/>

Email: sales@fanmaid.com

Phone: (931) 212-0254

Powered by PressAdvantage.com