

Electrolysis San Diego Launches New Website

December 06, 2016

December 06, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Electrolysis is becoming an increasingly popular cosmetic procedure for the removal of unwanted hair and skin blemishes. Electrolysis San Diego, a business in El Cajon, CA, is proud to announce that they have launched their brand new website, highlighting their services. Specifically, they focus on the use of electrolysis for permanent hair removal.

Jenny A. from Electrolysis San Diego says: "We're very proud of our new website, and we feel as if we have truly entered the 21st century now. The service we offer is now a very popular cosmetic procedure, and we want to make sure people know what it is, what it does, whether it is suitable for them, and how much it costs."

On the new website, clients can get relevant information that allows them to make sure they get the best possible treatment. For Electrolysis San Diego, the goal is to make sure people can look as beautiful on the outside as what they feel on the inside. Electrolysis is currently the only FDA approved method of permanently removing hair, being classed as completely safe. Interestingly, the procedure was first developed in 1875.

"Electrolysis is a method of hair removal for the face and body," explains Jenny A. "Medical electrolysis devices can destroy the hair's growth center using heat or chemical energy. A fine probe is inserted, at the skin's surface, into the hair follicle. Then the hair is removed using a pair of tweezers."

In conjunction with the launch of their new website, Electrolysis San Diego has also engaged in an intensive social media campaign. Their professional LinkedIn page highlights details of the qualifications and experiences that the staff members have. In addition, they have also launched accounts on Facebook, Twitter, Google+, YouTube, Pinterest, Tumblr, and Vimeo. Furthermore, they have started a BlogSpot blog, where they share more information about their services.

People are encouraged to check out the new website at electrolysissandiego.com and social media feeds, as well as to share their own experiences with electrolysis through these channels. Those looking to make an appointment for a consultation to start the process of hair removal can contact the clinic directly.
