November 30, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Reynaldo Garza Law firm welcomes Gus Elizondo as a new member to the legal team. Gus is a native of Brownsville and is formerly of the Cameron County District Attorney's Office.

Brownsville TX: Reynaldo Garza Law and attorney Reynaldo Garza III are pleased to announce that attorney Gustavo D. "Gus" Elizondo has been added to the legal team. Gus was born and raised in Brownsville and has family connections with the owner of the practice, as well as with Judge Reynaldo G. Garza, the first Mexican-American federal judge in United States history. The newest member of the practice previously was part of the Cameron County DA's Office, where he prosecuted cases ranging from traffic tickets to first degree felonies.

As part of the team of lawyers in Brownsville, TX, Elizondo will be zealously representing clients in areas of criminal and family law. The family connections to excellence in the legal profession provides representation which is experienced and knowledgeable. Trey Garza has been providing legal services to area residents for more than fifteen years. The firm specializes in criminal law, federal criminal law and family law.

According to a spokesperson for the firm, "The location of the City of Brownsville is close to the Mexican border. The geographical proximity to the border means many of the individuals accused of crimes are Mexican citizens, or citizens or residents of the United States, but may not be fluent in English. We offer Spanish-speaking services to defendants. The nearby resort community of South Padre Island attracts many students during spring breaks."

The attorneys in Brownsville TX are experienced in both Texas statutes and federal laws. A large part of the legal practice involves family law cases. This can include many different issues, such as divorce, child custody, child support, modification of visitation and adoptions. Some cases may involve property ownership when it is across the US/Mexican borders. Child custody cases also may involve disputes across international borders. For cases where bi-lingual English and Spanish is involved, legal representation that is fluent in both languages and is knowledgeable about the laws which may apply, benefits all parties to a dispute.
