Century Hearing is celebrating five years in business with a ten percent discount coupon for existing customers. The veteran-owned business is also offering a free copy of "The 7 Secrets You Need to Know Before Buying Your Next Hearing Aid".

Lakewood NJ: Century Hearing and CEO/founder Jon Stoddard are pleased to announce that they are celebrating five years of business providing hearing aids to customers looking for high-quality devices, but who need better prices to fit their budget. The firm provides online hearing products with the same features, quality, and technology as the high priced device, but at savings of up to 75 percent. In celebration of five years of operation, current customers are offered a discount coupon of ten percent off.

The firm's ability to provide cheap hearing aids is due to several factors. These include low overhead costs, a focus on budget-conscious customers, family ownership and constant scouring and monitoring of the Web to find the best deals. The hearing aids which are provided by Century Hearing are designed to fit the characteristics of a specific group of customers. They are the customers who want to save money on the hearing aids and who have a strong desire to hear better. The customers suffer from mild, moderate or severe hearing loss and are comfortable working with an online hearing aid business.

According to a company spokesperson, "We are sorry we cannot help everyone to hear better. We are unable to help anyone who requires face-to-face assistance, or those with profound hearing loss. We don't offer services to children and can't help those who have a budget of less than $200. We do offer discounted prices to veterans."

He continues, "As a way to give back to the community, we donate our low cost hearing aids to the local chapter of Sertoma. The Sertoma Hearing Aid Recycling Program provides hearing aids to low-income individuals in the community. We also support the Wounded Warrior program with a portion of profits generated by sales of hearing aids. The funds are donated to support the Wounded Warrior Project Independence Program."
