January 06, 2017 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Mojo Global, a lead generation systems company based in Scottsdale, AZ, has announced that they have been receiving a lot of 5 star commendations from their clients. Of course, there is the occasional negative review but the company points out that the number of positive reviews has been overwhelming. The company states that they learn from the negative ones and get inspired from the exceptional Mojo Global 5-star reviews.

Co-founder of Mojo Global, Cory Michael Sanchez, says: "There is no such company that only gets positive reviews. The important thing is that we learn something from it. Meanwhile, we are being inspired to continue with our efforts from the large number of commendations that we have been receiving."

One example of such glowing reviews is the John Fish Mojo Global 5-star review, which can be viewed at YouTube. John points out that from their original 20 connections they had for their business at LinkedIn, they now have 2700 connections within a short period of time. From a business perspective, John notes that they started from a few reps to about 70 reps. John observes that the amount of growth they experienced in just two and a half months was simply "ridiculously" high. In terms of revenue, John is projecting a six-figure revenue by the end of the year. He notes that what has been accomplished in a few months due to the lead generation system would have usually taken 10 years.

Another example is the great Mojo 5-star review by Randy S., which is also available for viewing at YouTube. Randy says, "Alex (one of Mojo's highly attentive staff) called, and we talked about my account. He was concerned about how I was doing, keeping me as a customer and helping me out in any way possible. This is in alignment with how I do business, and I really appreciate the way he handled everything. Professional and understanding. Rare qualities not often found together. Mojo is the kind of business you should be associated with."

Those who need more information about the lead generation system can contact Mojo Global through their website or through social media to see how the system can benefit their business.
