Mikes Tech Transmission offers the latest in automobile and transmission repair for vehicle owners in the Phoenix, Arizona area. A visit to their website provides a free auto repair estimate.

Phoenix AZ: Mikes Tech Transmission and owner Mike Higuera are pleased to announce that they have been providing vehicle repair and transmission services for more than 23 years. The firm serves the entire Phoenix area with a reliable response from affordable and trustworthy professionals. The firm is one of the only shops in the area which provides free towing to the shop with an automobile repair order.

Since the doors opened in 1993, the number one priority has been to retain client trust. The best and most comprehensive service is provided to everyone who comes into the facility. Irrespective of the type of automotive problem which is present, the skilled mechanics and technicians can fix it. The mechanics all undergo strict training and have extensive experience to repair any type of problem which the car might encounter.

The list of services shown on the website (<http://www.mikestechtransmission.com/services/>) includes everything from wiper blades to alignment of wheels and tires. The team does AC repair, as well as 30, 60 and 90k maintenance and checks. Engines can be repaired or replaced and associated parts such as the alternator, battery, belts and catalytic converters are addressed by the skilled mechanics. The mechanics can take care of problems with the fuel filter, fuel injection, fuel pumps, axles and bumpers. Issues with brake systems, steering and suspension components and electrical systems can be addressed with the same high level of expertise.

According to owner Mike Higuera, "Our blog is designed to help our customers and potential customers with tips and suggestions related to automobile and transmission repair. A recent post dealt with the requirements for finding a good auto repair shop. We suggest several ways that customers can use to ensure that the auto repair facility is one which will offer reliable, affordable and experienced services to vehicle owners."
