Allplant Auto Electrics & Air Conditioning in Welshpool, Western Australia, has announced the launch of a new website for their labour hire solutions service. The new website can be seen at www.allplant.net.au and has links that point to the company's main website <http://www.allplantautoelectrics.com.au>, which offers a wide range of additional services to local businesses.

Allplant Auto Electrics offers a variety of services for the mining industry, including auto electrical repair and installation for cars, trucks, and earthmoving machines. They provide alternators, starter motors, and various other products and repairs.

"We are excited to have our new website up and running," says Phil Bowen with the company. "We wanted to make it as easy as possible for customers to find the information that they needed."

On the new site, customers can find a listing of all the services offered by the company in addition to contact and scheduling information. Bowen states that they offer air conditioning services for a wide range of vehicles, most of which can be seen on the website. More information about the company and their list of services can also be seen on the company's Allplant Auto Electrics YouTube video.

"Our aim is to offer the best in services and to make it as convenient as possible for customers to learn what we do and how we can help them," says Bowen.

In addition to air conditioning, the company specializes in auto electrical installation for a wide range of electrical products and installations including wiring harnesses and much more. They can design and manufacture wiring harnesses as well, and provide industrial control systems and a host of additional services.

A complete list of Allplant services can be seen on the new website, with a list of services offered by the parent company on its official website. Bowen states that customers can gain more information on the site about their offered mobile services, which provides field service for a wide range of vehicles and machines from Perth to Pilbara. Those interested in any of the company's services can learn more and schedule an appointment on their newly designed website.
