Brendale firm offers customized marquees for all types of indoor or outdoor events. The colourful booths are suitable for catching the eyes of passers-by in an exciting and appealing way.

Brendale QLD: Australian Flag Makers is pleased to announce their line of custom printed marquee styles and sizes. The choice of colours and lettering is extensive and the customer gets to make the final decision about the way the marquee looks. The range of colours is perfect for displaying the theme of a company or organization. The graphics can be anything from a company logo to fanciful images. The printing is done with long-lasting inks so the marquee looks good for months.

By using the customized printed marquees Brisbane companies, as well as those throughout Australia can make their brand and products more visible at trade shows, corporate events and other locations where advertising is needed. The colours, logos or product descriptions are very visible when they appear on the marquee. Customers can't help but stop to check out further information, the company says. Whether the marquee is used to disseminate information about organizations or to promote products, the company says the booth is an excellent choice for long-term marketing campaigns.

One of the principles of advertising is visibility. Customers typically must be reminded of product or service names several times before it will come to mind when the item is needed. The printed marquee is eye-catching and is suitable for indoor or outdoor events. It is a substantial and re-usable advertising method for businesses of all types and sizes. When advertising methods capture the attention of the customer, they are more likely to respond with purchase from the advertiser.

According to Ben Beazley, speaking to an interviewer, ?Our marquees have been helping businesses and organizations to better display their products and services for years. The canopy, side walls and back wall of the booth as constructed of thick poly with protection against UV rays so that the marquee will last for years. The booth can be set up in a matter of minutes and is lightweight to carry.?
