Assisting Hands, based in Houston, TX, is proud to announce that they are now a nationwide recognized company, offering the best assisted living has to offer. They are known as the #1 assisted living alternative in providing in home health care. What sets the company apart is the fact that each of their clients is seen as more than just a patient, but rather as a member of the family.

Terri Robbins from Assisting Hands says: "Each of our owners has their own personal story of care giving that inspired them to join the Assisting Hands family. They've had first-hand experience in Houston assisted living facilities, hospitals, and other in home care Houston facilities, but all of them say that the compassion and quality that Assisting Hands provides is bar none the best that they have ever experienced."

Assisting Hands caters to all possible in home health care Houston needs. They offer competitive prices, and no job is too big or too small for them. Committed to only offering the best of the best, every Assisting Hands employee is fully screened and background checked on a national level. This is something that sets them apart from other home health care providers, who generally only screen their employees on a state wide level, as is the legal required minimum. Assisting Hands, by contrast, goes above and beyond to ensure that the needs of their patients are met in the best possible way.

Those who have used the services of Assisted Living, be that as fellow professionals, as patients, or as carers of patients, have been very positive about the services provided by the company. "Thank you for all you do for the elderly in Houston and beyond," says one person on the company's Facebook page.

Assisted Hands is committed to offering the very best in elder care. With each employee in the company having a personal experience of needing in home care, they have the personal touch and approach that many others seem to be lacking. Unsurprisingly, the company's reputation is increasing continuously, particularly since they are also committed to always remaining up to date with their professional knowledge.
