

QVS Tech Now Offering Free Shipping With All Oscillators Ordered

June 08, 2015

June 08, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

QVS Tech Inc, a company based in Carlsbad, CA, has today released a special offer for all new customers. On any first order of QVS Tech SMD Oscillators, they will receive free shipping. The order must be of a value higher than $250 and postage is UPS Ground only. The company expects this offer will attract a range of new customers to their store.

"Our Oscillators are some of the best available on the market today", says Alicia Scaglione from QVS Tech Inc. "We want to make sure that more people are able to enjoy the fantastic quality they offer, which is why we have created the special free shipping order for new customers."

QVS Tech is a women owned business. This is quite rare in the tech industry and certainly something that sets the company apart from the rest of the market. However, their focus is not on any type of gender bias, but rather on ensuring everybody is able to receive the highest quality products and superior customer service. Customer service means that efforts are made to keep shoppers satisfied and one way to achieve that is through free shipping.

The company has successfully supplied high quality oscillators and crystals for over 15 years now. Hence, it is the go to source for frequency control products. As shown on the website, QVS prides itself on having some of the quickest lead times in the industry and on offering fast-turn deliveries.

"We have a huge inventory of products in stock", adds Alicia Scaglione. "We also offer same day shipping on these products, so people can come to us when they need things in a hurry. However, our greatest pride, as business and tech women, is that we deliver fantastic quality and truly superior customer service. That is how we set ourselves apart from the market and why we are considered an authority company."

QVS Tech understands that each shopper has unique and different needs. Hence, they offer a huge range of frequencies and packages so that all these needs can be met. Most of their products are also fully RoHS compliant, which further guarantees the quality, as well as the safety of the products.

The company holds a high level of stock so that customers can have their product sent out to them the very same day. Should they request a product that is not currently in stock, QVS Tech has some of the fastest lead times across the industry, so that customers never have to wait long for their products. The goal of the company is to make customers happy, which is what they find their personal happiness in as well.

The store website is highly user friendly and allows people to browse through the full catalog of products. Any orders for QVS Tech SMD Oscillators will immediately be processed and sent out. The fact that this now comes with free shipping is a welcome bonus and just one of the many testaments to the quality of this organization.
